

Incentive Ideas for Volunteerism

Want to give your employees even more reason to volunteer through Nepris? Here are some fun ideas you can adapt to meet your organization's unique needs.

Recognition. Acknowledge volunteers through badges, plaques, or awards. Mention their impact through email, your company newsletter, or run their session videos on monitors in your facility.

Celebration. Invite participating employees to a special luncheon, reception, or ceremony to recognize their volunteerism. This could be on a yearly, quarterly, or monthly basis.

Donation. Set an amount to donate to schools or other organizations for every set number of volunteer hours reached, sessions completed, etc. Volunteers can choose the recipient.

Raffle. Hold a drawing for employees with high rates of participation. Prizes could include additional vacation time, donations to schools or nonprofits, gift cards, etc.

Goals. Designate a volunteerism goal for individual employees to reach by volunteering through Nepris: 1 session/month, 500 students impacted/year, 5 hours volunteered/year, etc.

Competition. Plan a competition for individuals, departments, or teams, where winners can earn a trophy, recognition, or prizes. Cross-department collaborations can be encouraged as well.

Gift. Offer employees who reach goals the opportunity to provide a teacher or school with free access to Nepris. This incentive can be especially incentivizing for employees with students in local schools.
